

Increase Your Value, Learning + Coaching = Growth & Success

MoZen is a provider of practical, real world business coaching and executive education. We dedicate ourselves to making the complex simple and the sometimes difficult or overwhelming easy to understand. We empower individuals to attain their goals.

We leverage a client's current knowledge/experience and take them to the next level. Our integrated approach drives strong outcomes, as we partner with the best companies, we develop, design and deliver programs that make a difference and help our clients reach their business goals.

MoZen's seminars are designed for businesses who want to improve productivity, decrease costs, increase customer satisfaction and profits.

Is your work managing you or are you managing your work? Would you like to attain results faster or feel more in control of the results you attain? In our daily lives we get flooded with information and work disruptions, which can overwhelm us quickly. Typical work disruptions can be a daunting task-projects and priorities get off track, deadlines are missed, resources wasted and hours are spent dealing with the overload and interruptions rather than producing the products or services our clients require,

MoZen employs a variety of learning methods that participants engage in to attain exponential knowledge building critical skills that attain results.

MoZen's programs are designed to build essential skills to help employees at all levels produce better results and more easily attain desired business goals.

Our programs provide tools and techniques to clarify performance expectations, set priorities, and build more dynamic and motivational environments increasing employee commitment and customer satisfaction all critical components in this fast changing competitive global marketplace.

Helping employees improve their skill sets is the most valuable investment a business can make as it allows employees to become part of the solution and it can increase productivity up to 40%.

We've created a unique environment where all levels of employees learn to test ideas to understand the business strategy and to look at what metrics are most critical to the business.

This is your opportunity to experience the excitement fortune 100 companies are raving about!

“SUSTAIN YOUR ORGANIZATION’S COMPETITIVENESS”

MoZen’s programs are designed to help leaders and employees be more effective in their roles by being more strategic and systematic in making business decisions. Our programs build new skills and commitment to help attain desired business goals.

An organization spends a lot of time creating a strategic plan, but if not combined with a knowledgeable workforce, balanced scorecard metrics and key performance indicators they will not get the results desired-to make quicker faster business decisions, decrease costs and increase customer/client satisfaction.

To attain business goals and success, business leaders must have employees with both the skill sets and knowledge to translate their competitive business strategy into an accountable action plans. Without this knowledge and skill set development, time and resources are wasted on piecemeal, disparate activities. Senior and mid-level managers will fill the void with their interpretation of what the business should be doing, typically resulting in a disjointed set of activities that are not aligned to attain the critical business goals.

MoZen’s programs help participants learn break through thinking, problem solving techniques and how to apply these new techniques to make better business decisions and experience the immediate impact of those decisions on the business process, customer satisfaction and the company’s or organization’s profit.

“What Got You Here, Won’t Get You There.”

Leaders today recognize the need to continually change, yet only a handful are equipped with the right tools, techniques and educated workforce to create effective change within their organizations, divisions or departments to accomplish it. Ultimately, managing is all about eliciting the level of performance needed from your staff to produce bottom-line results and visible success for you and your team?

MoZen’s accelerated programs, offer critical success factors of goal alignment, improved employee performance that drives desired results.

To start building competitive skills to transform your business we have a number of seminars designed to allow you to proactively address evolving business challenges, resulting in a more educated, motivated, and customer-oriented employees who steadily improve performance and more easily attain desired business goals.

MoZen’s programs are help participants understand and apply innovative concepts delivering value to investors, customers and employees as all participants learn expedient skills that they can apply immediately.

Gain a stronger skill set and learning practical tools designed for real world applications. Discover how to improve communication and learn identify areas of improvement. Understand what a non-value activity is and how to remove it decreasing costs and improving customer/client satisfaction as dramatic improvements come from paying attention to customers and understanding how to use KPIs and Balanced Scorecard metrics.

“DRIVING INNOVATION WITH PROVEN PROCESSES, TOOLS AND STRATEGIES FOR GROWTH”

White Belt Certification

This is a fast paced fun interactive learning simulation designed for to help participants understand how to make better business decisions; improve business results, improve customer satisfaction, improve process efficiency and relate it to the profitability.

As part of the simulation they make business decisions and see the impact on customer satisfaction, the business process and the company's profits.

This seminar uses a Lean Six Sigma methodology to develop an understanding of the operational and financial improvements that can be made from a logical, disciplined approach to business problem solving.

Lean Six Sigma combines the two most important improvement trends of our time. Discover how this remarkable improvement method can give you the tools to solve business problems and improve business decisions.

Our White Belt seminar was developed first for GE Capital and is a full day business simulation. It has been enthusiastically received by the world's largest corporations and consistently rated by participants as their most valuable learning experience.

MoZen's Simulation is designed to achieve break through thinking with everyone - from senior executives to salespeople to support staff to the service professionals who deal directly with internal or external customers.

How You Will Benefit

- Lean is a renowned methodology that eliminates all categories of waste to help maximize efficiencies.
- Lean Six Sigma logic is used as a framework to improve cycle time and process management which helps participants make better business decisions.
- Learn the impact of real-world process to profitability resulting in customers and employees satisfaction.
- Understand balanced scorecards and business metrics. Improve bottom-line strategies and results in a fierce competitive and global market.
- Participants are introduced to active listening and questioning techniques to increase their understanding of customer needs.
- Learn how Lean delights customers with speed and quality, improves your processes and the value of data and fact based decision.
- Learn how to take value stream mapping to the 5th level and understand the language of process improvement, Lean and Six Sigma.
- Have a working knowledge of the tools of process improvement/ Lean Six Sigma and how to apply them and how to remove non-value added activities.
- Increase productivity, and eliminate daily fire fighting and non-value added activities from the business processes. Sustain a consistent, high-performance team environment and culture.